

Our Work In Wales

2017/18

Sports Leaders UK are regulated by Qualifications Wales as an Awarding Organisation providing formally recognised qualifications to young people across the UK & overseas. We utilise the mediums of sport, dance, expedition & core-curricular subjects to provide young people with vital leadership skills that will last a lifetime.

Our qualifications sit on regulated frameworks alongside a suite of nationally recognised & accredited awards to support curriculums. We also use our expertise to support the delivery of qualifications, awards, programmes, curriculums & training/assessment models on behalf of other partner organisations.

Over the past year, we have facilitated over...

120,000 hours
hours of volunteering in Wales!

Here's how we did it...

During 2017/18 we worked with a network of

71 Delivery Centres

across Wales to run

192 courses delivering a range of new and improved leadership qualifications.

Primary

Secondary

FE

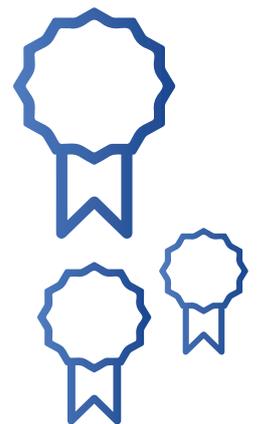

Community

We trained and qualified 76 Leadership Tutors

Which led to

477 hours of CPD for teachers, coaches, tutors and volunteers

These tutors delivered qualifications to 7,189 Learners
(of which 48% were female)

Laid end to end they would be the length of 120 rugby pitches!

These learners undertook 174,164 hours
of learning and demonstrated 120,487 hours
of documented volunteering.

That is nearly 14 years!

But it doesn't stop there!

Our sports leaders continue to volunteer, implementing their skills & experience to deliver high quality and enjoyable leadership sessions to young people, their peers and in their community.

Our vision for Wales

“We believe every young person should have the opportunity to realise their potential and for behavioural skill development to be recognised and promoted as an essential element of youth development and education.

In addition to ground-breaking projects like Monmouthshire Council delivering their Skills4Life Education programme, ensuring every primary school child has an opportunity to realise their leadership potential, we have successfully worked with over 70 schools, colleges, local authorities and community organisations in the last 3 years to qualify the skill development of over 20,346 young people who have contributed 368,365 volunteering hours to their local communities throughout Wales.

We want to do more in Wales and our future ambitions are simple: We want as many young people as possible to recognise their leadership potential; develop their employability and life-skills; and become socially-conscious role models through community volunteering.

To achieve this, we will become more agile in the way we work, develop more opportunities for collaborative, innovative partnerships and make leadership development more relevant to young people and the establishments that positively influence them. We look forward to working with you to make this vision a reality for future generations across Wales.”

Richard Norman,
Chief Executive.
